

West Penn Testing Group Merges Operations with MISTRAS Group

As many of you are aware, West Penn Testing Group was acquired by MISTRAS in 2017, and we are pleased to announce that we have now officially merged operations with our parent company and operate in name as part of MISTRAS Group.

This applies to all former West Penn Testing Group offices in New Kensington, PA – USA; Richburg, SC – USA; and Ellabell, GA – USA. These offices will continue to operate in their current forms with no change in services, management, or business relationships. This change does not entail any further changes in ownership.

This change does not adversely affect your business in any way.

All West Penn Testing Group services will continue to be offered.

In addition to advanced in-house laboratory services, MISTRAS serves as its customers OneSource for Asset Protection Solutions, providing field inspections, engineering consulting, inspection products, asset monitoring, and inspection data management and analytics software.
